

Connecting Veterans to Telehealth Care

Many Veterans are turning to telehealth to access care from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. But for Veterans living in rural areas or for those that may have limited broadband connectivity, VA telehealth services can be difficult to access. That's why VA is working to bridge this digital divide and ensure that all Veterans can access VA telehealth care.

Digital Divide Consult

If you would benefit from video telehealth services but don't have internet access or a video-capable device, VA's Digital Divide Consult can help. Through the Digital Divide Consult, your VA provider can refer you to a VA social worker who can determine your eligibility for programs to help you get the internet service or technology needed for VA telehealth. For more information about the Digital Divide Consult, talk with your VA provider.

VA Internet-Connected Devices

If you don't have a device with internet access, VA can lend you an internet-connected tablet at no cost so you can reach your VA care team through telehealth. The Digital Divide Consult can help determine if you are eligible.

Free Mobile Connectivity for Telehealth

AT&T, SafeLink by TracFone, T-Mobile, and Verizon help Veteran subscribers avoid data charges when using VA Video Connect on their networks. This lets you access your VA care team through telehealth with fewer worries about data fees.

Telehealth Sites in Your Community

Through ATLAS (Accessing Telehealth through Local Area Stations), VA is bringing telehealth into Veterans' communities. ATLAS sites are comfortable, private spaces for Veterans to have video appointments with their VA providers. VA has teamed up with public and private organizations, including The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, to create ATLAS sites in select communities.

To see if there is an ATLAS site near you, visit telehealth.va.gov/atlas.
